the stated goal of EXTENSIVE IMMANENCE is to publish very long works of experimental literature. each text is longer than 1,200 pages. these are sometimes written by computer manipulation, sometimes by human 'hands' on a computer keyboard, sometimes by email collaboration, other instances by combinations of any of the previous means.

as a stated length, more than 1,200 pages describes the "EXTENSIVE" part of the press' name.

a quality of "IMMANENCE" is more complicated and evanescent. it is a term with as many definitions as people who use it. a general description, not a definition, would go something like: "it covers the universe", a big claim for a work of literature, but this won't be the first time.

a title like EXTENSIVE IMMANENCE could be seen as a tautology. instead following Gertrude Stein's idea that repetition is insistence, not repetition. the works included in the press-identity must be very long.

thanks for taking some time with these texts.

the second book is no puncture by Jukka-Pekka Kervinen forthcoming is a text by Jim Leftwich/John Crouse.

the press is always reading new manuscripts in electronic form. please inquire before sending your work by writing an email to Peter Ganick at the above address.
